Candidate Statement:
Libraries are more than just books, they provide an ecosystem of service that both harbors and refortifies our community long term. They are an incubator of technological advancement for people of all ages, who can have access to the tools to design what they dream – even if they couldn’t have access to it otherwise. Libraries do this by providing the necessary structure to empower its members as future leaders who can then give back to their diverse communities.

The Art of Marc Chagall presented by Dr. Linda Burghardt
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6 at 2:00 pm
Meeting ID: 834 5724 0614
Passcode: 251483
Born in a small Russian village, Marc Chagall rose to become one of the most famous and influential artists of his day. His paintings are filled with fantastic imagery: lovers flying over cities, animals with human faces, people turning into violins, musicians leaping over rooftops. Yet despite his many sources of inspiration, his Jewish roots, he said, were always his truest guide: “If I were not Jewish I never would have become an artist.”

Mae West: Ahead of Her Time presented by Max Alvarez
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15 at 2:00 pm
Meeting ID: 847 5047 9704
Passcode: 376814
“Go West” with film historian Max Alvarez as he discusses the amazing life and career of the hilarious and unflappable Mae West (1893–1980), the actress/writer who scandalized Broadway and Hollywood during the 1920s and 30s playing quick-witted, sexually aggressive females who lived life on men’s terms. This program features rare archival material and delightful film clips from such immortal West comedies as She Done Him Wrong (1933), I’m No Angel (1933), and My Little Chickadee (1940). And remember: when she’s good, she’s very good, but when she’s bad — she’s better!

New York City Museums: Famous and Otherwise presented by Michael Hartnett
MONDAY, OCTOBER 12 at 2:00 pm
Meeting ID: 850 1303 0378
Passcode: 563587
The discussion will focus on New York’s great museums, but also will point to some lesser known ones. Part of the commentary will include how to navigate museums for visitors who traditionally do not enjoy them. In addition, the discussion will explore the idea of New York City as an open air museum, using the area around the Gowanus Canal in Brooklyn as an example.

Passcode: 590533
Godless, fatherless, divorced and childless, Aaliya Sobhi is her family’s “unnecessary appendage,” living alone in her Beirut apartment. Every year, she translates a new favorite book into Arabic, then stows it away. As she tries to overcome her aging body and spontaneous emotional upwellings, Aaliya is faced with an unthinkable disaster that threatens to shatter the little life she has left.

October 21:
Good Riddance by Elinor Lipman
Daphne Maritch doesn’t quite know what to make of the heavily annotated high school yearbook she inherits from her mother, who held this relic too dear. In a fit of de-cluttering, Daphne discards it when she moves to a small New York City apartment. But when it’s found in the recycling bin by a busbody neighborhood/documentary filmmaker, the yearbook’s mysteries—not to mention her own fam-i-ly’s—take on a whole new urgency, and Daphne finds herself entangled in a series of events both poignant and absurd.

October 27:
My Brilliant Friend by Elena Ferrante
Meeting ID: 975 7522 1933
