Ben Katchor’s picture-stories have been collected in a number of books. Most recently, The Dairy Restaurant weaves a multimedia tapestry around a little-known aspect of the Holocaust: the Mischlinge (a derogatory Nazi term for those neither fully Jewish nor fully Aryan). Interweaving video and audio testimony from Carolyn’s godmother and her father (both labeled Mischling, Grade A by the Nazis), with the music of composers from the salon period who converted to Christianity in the decades before the war, the program vividly illustrates what it was like to be between worlds in Germany in the first half of the 20th century. Carolyn will perform alongside her virtual film, followed by a Q&A.

Rock music exploded on the big screen when Bill Haley & the Comets sang Rock Around the Clock at the opening of Blackboard Jungle in 1955. Frenzied teenagers danced in the aisles and there were reports of violence and vandalism at theaters around the world. Rock's notoriety would end up contributing to its appeal and Hollywood, recognizing the power of the teen audience, would begin to unleash a series of films featuring rock and R&B musicians performing their hits in the midst of plots ranging from rebellious high schoolers, out-of-control hot rodders, or the romantic antics of spring break college students. This presentation will look at the first decade of rock movies, and how Hollywood helped reflect the power of this music around the world.
