BUDGET DISCUSSION

President DiCamillo turned this portion of the meeting over to Trustee Pizer, Chair of the Finance Committee. Trustee Pizer stated that a zero base budgeting was used to rationalize every item for expenditure in the budget. She thanked Mr. Zitofsky for being flexible and diligent. She then asked him to review the draft budget for the fiscal year July 2013 to June 2014.

Starting with income, Mr. Zitofsky explained that he held the tax revenue under the 2% tax cap. He then trimmed all the operating revenues to achieve a realistic and conservative draft budget of $8,400,000, a 1.97% increase.

The operating revenue lines – fines, interest on savings, vending equipment commission, expense recovery, lost books, book sales, and local library service aid, etc., were trimmed for a more realistic picture resulting in a 20% decrease down from the current year.

This draft budget shows a deficit of $48,300 which means we have to find out where we are going to cut.

Personnel Salaries – Last May each Department Head was told to cut hours in their departments resulting in $39,000 savings in Personnel Services. Despite these salary cuts, pension costs continue to rise resulting in $85,800 increase in Employee Benefits. This draft budget shows an overall increase of $46,500 for total personnel services.

The Business Manager highlighted selected lines that are best candidates to look for savings.

The floor was then opened up for questions from the Trustees and following that from the audience.

Trustee Pizer then summarized the following areas of the draft budget that need to be looked into when preparing the second draft to see some savings:

- Book Sale Author Events There is a $5,000 budget on this line. If the unsold books were i. returned to the bookstore, then the dollar amount should be zero.
- ii. Employee Health Insurance Costs There are 46 current employees with health benefits. There is a provision in the draft budget to combine one existing part-time position with one part-time vacancy into a full-time position to make 47 full-timers. There would not be additional health costs for this position since one of the fulltime employees switched to parttime so the health benefits would go towards this new full-time position. If this new fulltime position was not created, then there would be savings.

- iii. Instead of combining ebooks and print material, these two categories should be separated. Need a comprehensive listing of all databases and their costs.
- iv. Computer Software (E-Commerce/Windows/MS Office Upgrade) E-Commerce has not yet being approved by the Finance Committee. The Interim Director to find out which version of MS Software 2003 or 2007 that the library is currently using.
- v. NLS Discussions are ongoing with the intent of reducing the Great Neck Library's portion of the fee. The deciding factor will be the cost of our databases based on statistic and facts.
- vi. Substitute Pay $1,800 increase over last year is built in this draft. This had not gone through Finance or Personnel Committees. Discussion needs to take place at these levels on whether or not to cut the $1,800 and bring it down to its previous level.
- vii. Sunday Pay Requires analysis of peak times on Sundays. Staffing should be looked at whether there should be less staffing when there are no events and more when there are events rather than consistently having the same amount of staff working every Sunday.
- viii. Time Attendance System The Library will not be going back to paper timesheet and the Business Manager was asked to see whether or not this is the best program for the Library. Mr. Zitofsky believes he can get the program to work the way it should.
- ix. Staff Conferences Send one person instead of two to each conference.
- x. YA Programming Needs justification for having a budget line for this age group. The Interim Director to find out for what programs the money is being requested.
- xi. Newsletter Printing Changed last year from bi-monthly to quarterly. The printing and postage lines of the draft budget would now see a savings of $14,000.
- xii. Station Branch Lease Mr. Zitofsky to research how much of this is for property tax.

Trustee Pizer thanked all, especially the Business Manager.
